

POST-GRADUATE RESEARCH FELLOWSHIP APPLICATIONS

The Asia Pacific Foundation of Canada is committed to fostering the next generation of researchers and analysts. To that end, it offers up to five one-year fellowships for recent Master's and Doctoral graduates whose academic background and professional goals include policy-relevant issues in the contemporary Asia Pacific. The Foundation welcomes applications from graduates in the social sciences, humanities, business, education, statistics, natural sciences, and other academic and professional programs.

Post-Graduate Research Fellows are based at our downtown Vancouver offices and divide their time between a self-directed research project on Canada-Asia relations (or other Asia-related topic with clear Canadian policy implications) and the Foundation's other activities.

PhD graduates receive $38,000 and M.A. graduates receive $35,000 for a one-year term. Fellowships are on a 12-month cycle and normally begin in May. The Foundation will consider later start dates on a case-by-case basis.

Applicants must be Canadian citizens or landed immigrants and must have completed a Master's or Doctoral program no more than 18 months prior to the application deadline.

All applications must be received by February 15, 2012. For further information on how to apply, please visit the Foundation's website at:
